How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation,
knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undig-ested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them
a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth.
It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.
As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been dissatisfied in the effect produced; it seems to be a perfect cure for all diseases of the Liver and Bowels.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

HOME AND HOME FOLKS AFTER
THE SUMMER VACATION.

Patience Walters—Mother's Vacation—A Woman's Project—Advice for Hot Weather—Beware of Summer Colds.
Notes for Mothers and Housekeepers.

Though it is perhaps a little soon to think of returning from one's summer outing when there are so many who have not yet gone away, and as also the weather woe us from rather than toward the city, yet one cannot control the current of the mind to such a degree that there will not loiter somewhere in the corners the anticipation of what will be done when we once again reach home.

Absence makes the heart grow fonder,
especially of the inanimate objects left behind. It is a perfect delight to note the chairs just where they used to stand;
the little knickknacks in our own room telling their tale of gifts with pleasant associations, and becoming acquainted all over again with the workings of the home. In all the days that have gone so swiftly by have we ever met any among the many new acquaintances that could compare with the home folks? Were there ever such dear, gracious, lovable people in the world as father and mother? No girl was so pretty or boy so clever as the sister and brother who are most hearty in their welcome, their kisses and loving little pats of affection keeping up even when hat and wrap have been laid aside.
Even though we may not be physically benefited one iota by our summer outing, yet to every one a trip of a few days is beneficial in one way, at least—it brings out the home folks and home surroundings in an entirely different light when compared with the glamour and insincerity of the outside world, and unless the mind is shallow and the inclinations most frivolous, there will be no yearnings for the pomps and vanities,
but a thankful heart and rare appreciation of the genuineness of the dear ones who love us for ourselves.—Philadelphia Times.

Patience Walters.
The Italian singers, Sofia and Giulia Ravogli, who became quite suddenly the delight of London musical circles, are very modest and patient women. They can bear to defer enjoyment even of the praise which is theirs by right.
Mlle. Giulia was one day talking with a friend, who happened to make some remark about the enthusiastic notices the two singers had received from all the London papers.

"Yes, every one tell me so," replied she in her pretty, broken English, "and we get such a lot of funny little rolls of de brown paper sent to us many time in de day, and we puts dem all in dis big drawer, to save up when we go home." Here she pulled out the drawer and displayed a quantity of newspapers, not one of which had been opened.

"But don't you look at them?" asked the visitor.

"Oh, no, not yet we look; but see here! dis is a book which shall contain dem some day."

Thereupon she displayed with great pride a perfectly new and empty scrapbook, which she confessed had attracted her by its red and blue index letters. In that "some day" would see her fame enrolled, but she was content to wait for leisure to accomplish the pleasing task.—Youth's Companion.

two rival sewing machine agents recently who were struggling for her

SILVER, WHEAT AND COTTON.

Silver has been ranging during the past week in the vicinity of 83 cents an ounce. Wheat has dropped to 98 1/2 cents per bushel in New York, the lowest point since 1888. Cotton was last quoted by Dun & Co. at 7 1/2 cents and corn went down 6 1/2 cents during the week. Other staples were in close sympathy. Oats declined 1 1/2 cents, pork 50 cents a barrel, lard 37 cents and hogs 80 cents per 100 pounds, and oil 1/2 of a cent per gallon. As silver goes, so go the other leading articles of commerce.

What does the decline in these staples mean? Simply that gold is going up—that is, advancing in its purchasing power. As the prices of everything salable arrange themselves with the amount of actual money—gold—the decline of the one measures the advance of the other. Herein is the conspiracy of the gold trust as Senator Stewart has so aptly termed it. By striking down silver, it has reduced the volume of money, and as a consequence advanced its purchasing power. The prices of everything have declined and have not yet reached bottom. The whole industrial world is on the verge of paralysis. Silver and wheat and cotton and other staples of commerce are scarcely worth producing, while all money is centering in the hands of the few. The masses are sinking into hopeless debt and bankruptcy.

There is too much intelligence, too much manhood, too much freedom now in the world to permit these conspirators to succeed. They have already brought great distress on the people of this country and Europe. Their schemes cannot, however, go much farther. Commercial panic is certain to ensue, unless they are soon checked. A great revolution is impending, not a revolution of force, but of ballots. The people are awakening to the threatened danger and are demanding the only remedy—the remonetization of silver and its complete restoration to the coinage.—Denver News.

WHO IT HURTS.

In his famous anti-National bank speech in Congress, May 9, 1879, General Weaver related the following incident to show how expansion and contraction operates:

"A great big fellow came to school when I was a little boy about ten years old, and holding in his hand a piece of India rubber which he was stretching. He said to me:

"Jim, did you ever see anything like this?"

I replied: "I never have. What is it?"

"Why?" said he, "they call it India rubber. Take that end of it between your teeth."

I did so.

"Now," said he, "pull."

I pulled and he pulled. While it was stretching out, while it was expanding, it did not hurt me a bit; but when he let loose the other end that was contraction and you may depend it was not pleasant. [Great laughter.] Now the proposition is to put the rubber to the lips of the American people and let the National banks draw it out whenever they please.

The man who votes for Harrison comes to the polls as he now is against silver, or for a Congressman who upholds him, says an exchange, places the success of party above the prosperity of the State, and joins with Eastern gold men to depress the prices of our products and further depopulate our mining communities. There should now be no hesitation on the part of any person who believes that the free coinage of silver is of greater importance to the people of the State than the success of any party, to openly and unequivocally declare for General Weaver, the Free Coinage candidate for President.

What will not the professional politician do for party? See what a pitiable, contemptible spectacle Colorado's Senators will present when they appear in the Senate again as the champions of the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and wearing the self-selected brand of Harrison supporters. The Southern silver men will regard them with distrust, if not with contempt.—Denver News.

The Idaho Sentinel says the working-man who will vote for either of the old parties with the light he now has before him deserves to remain a serf. Both parties have made their records and both are opposed to any change or modification in a system that has made production a tribute payer to drones.

THE SILVER CONVENTION.

Stewart and Newlands Denounce the Old Parties.

A VERY LARGE ATTENDANCE.

The Silver Men in the Fight to Win—The Electors Instructed for Weaver and Field.

The Silver Convention.

WINNEMUCA, September 15.—The second convention of the Silver party of Nevada was held at Winnemucca to-day to instruct its electors, called Silver electors, to vote for Weaver and Field. After the convention was organized, Senator Stewart, in his address to the convention, quoted the plank in the platform of the Democratic party in 1884, which he claimed was a free coinage platform. He reviewed the administration of President Cleveland to show that he disregarded the platform after his election and used its power of his administration to demonetize silver. He then quoted the plank in the platform of the Republican party in 1888, which declares that the Republican party is in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money, and condemns the Democratic administration for its efforts to demonetize silver. He then reviewed President Harrison's administration, showing that President Harrison had been equally active with his predecessors in his efforts to demonetize silver, and that he now refuses to use silver as money or pay it out to public creditors. He stated that the position taken by Harrison in his letter of acceptance was the most extreme position in favor of a gold standard taken by any President; that no President had ever so emphatically declared against the independent action on the part of the United States in favor of the restoration of silver. The declaration in the President's letter in favor of changing the ratio so as to make the silver in a silver dollar equal to the gold in a gold dollar, if adopted by an international agreement, the conference would prevent the price of silver from advancing in the market, and would be a practical demonetization of that metal. It would accomplish all that the gold advocates ever desired. The Senator declared that the friends of silver were in the West and in the South, and that a union of the people of those sections was essential to resist the aggressions of the gold monopoly which had already paralyzed the industry and nearly ruined silver mining; that the refusal of Republican members of the silver States in the House of Representatives to join with the silver Democrats in defeating the Force bill was a grave mistake, and tended to divide the friends of silver and strengthen the hands of the enemies of honest money. The bill, he said, passed the House by only six majority. Three representatives from the silver States could have made a tie and defeated the bill. Their refusal to do so was a great misfortune. The action taken by the silver Republicans in the Senate was just the reverse of that taken by those in the House. The Silver Senators joined the Democrats and defeated the Force bill, and their action had a most beneficial effect in uniting the friends of silver and enabling them to pass free coinage bills in the Senate. He insisted that Nevada must protest against the aggressions of the gold combination; that a vote for either Harrison or Cleveland was a vote for an enemy of the paramount industry of Nevada, and that if Nevada continued to vote for gold men for President no one could place any confidence in the sincerity of her motives or believe that the State was really in favor of free coinage. The Senator stated that James B. Weaver of Iowa was the only Presidential candidate in the field who was in favor of the free coinage of silver or whose position on that question harmonized with the interests of Nevada. No matter what the consequences might be it was the duty of every citizen of Nevada to express by his vote his real sentiments; that voting for either Harrison or Cleveland was worse than throwing votes away. Such action was strengthening and encouraging to the enemies of free silver; that it was the duty of Nevada to protest against the election of any advocates of the gold standard. He said that every reform movement must have a commencement and that the movement inaugurated by General Weaver was in the right direction; that Nevada could not afford to check that movement, but must encourage and aid it by her vote. He declared that he would vote for Weaver and Field and advocate their election on the stump throughout the State. His utterances were received with prolonged and enthusiastic applause, the convention most heartily endorsing every sentiment uttered.

Francis G. Newlands, who was recently nominated by the Republican Convention of Nevada which passed Presidential Electors and repudiated the action of Harrison on the silver question, was also called upon. He declared that, as a member of the National Bimetallist League of America, whose constitution requires its members to support no man for legislative or executive office who was not committed by platform and declaration to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and as a member of the Silver League of Nevada, organized under a similar constitution, and as a loyal citizen of Nevada and true to her paramount interest, he would in November next vote for silver electors and through them for the only Presidential candidate who had declared himself for the free and unlimited coinage of silver, General Weaver of Iowa. He denied that a vote for Weaver would be a vote for Cleveland. He declared that General Weaver, whilst in Nevada, had given assurance that in case he should not have a majority of the votes of the electoral college, and his supporters constituted the balance of power there, that power would be exercised in behalf of silver, regardless of his personal candidacy. Mr. Newlands declared it was the purpose of the silver men to make a fight on every rampart and in every ditch. They proposed to go with courageous hearts to the polls, confident in the election of W. A. B. But if beaten there and the Weaver voters constituted the balance of power they proposed to carry on the fight in the Electoral College and use the balance of power for the advantage of silver. If defeated there, they would give every silver man from the South and West in the present House to understand that he would meet with political ostracism if he aided in the election of a President who was opposed to silver. Newlands reviewed the situation and the prospect of immediate action on the silver question in this country; he showed how the balance of power had been exercised by three Senators under the leadership of Stewart, who threatened to vote against the McKinley bill, unless the present silver law, then tied up in the Conference Committee, and eventually shelved, was taken out of the committee and passed and signed. These three men, by their determined and independent action, brought to terms a Republican House, a Republican Senate and a Republican President. Nevada was engaged in a struggle for her very life and every loyal citizen of that State should place the silver cause above every consideration of party loyalty.

The speech was frequently interrupted by applause and followed by great applause and cheering. Committees were then appointed, and after a recess reported the platform, which approved the previous platform of the previous Silver Convention, held at Reno, and instructed the Silver electors to vote for Weaver and Field. It also contained vigorous resolutions supporting Stewart for the Senatorship, and also endorsed the candidacy of Francis G. Newlands for Congress and J. Balknap for Supreme Judge, their nominations having been previously made by the Republican and Democratic conventions respectively.

The convention then adjourned with a vote of thanks to the officers of the convention and with three cheers for the ticket. The convention was largely attended by delegations from all over the State, and a most imposing, enthusiastic and determined set of men never met in Nevada. Their action was harmonious and every member expressed the determination to fight for the pocket of Weaver and Field until the close of the polls on election day.

Cholera in Connecticut. NEW HAVEN, Conn., September 15.—At about 7 o'clock this morning an Italian was found writhing in terrible agony in a field on the outskirts of this city. The police were at once notified, and when the ambulance arrived the Italian was exhibiting all the symptoms of cholera. He was removed to a hospital and isolated.

This afternoon, his brother, Nataniel Rooney, who lived with him, was stricken with the same symptoms. He was taken to the hospital and isolated. The health officer and hospital authorities maintain a rigid silence as to the cases.

HAMBURG, September 15.—Two hundred and four new cases of cholera were officially reported here yesterday and 81 deaths, an increase of six new cases and fifteen less deaths.

Gasoline Explosion. PRESIDENT, A. T., September 15.—A fire started this afternoon from the explosion of gasoline in F. B. Jacob's assay office, Montezuma street, and before it could be gotten under control destroyed from $15,000 to $20,000 worth of property.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies for the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of the kind which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla. Peculiar in its medicinal merits. Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its good name at home—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly. Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by druggists, $1.50 per box. Prepared only by C. L. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses One Dollar.

THE STRAIGHT-OUTS.
More of Their Proceedings At Carson Wednesday.
After the straight-out Democrats had resolved themselves into a Central Committee at Carson Wednesday the following resolution was presented by M. E. Elster, and unanimously adopted:
Whereas, The late Democratic State Convention held at Winnemucca selected certain electors to constitute a State Central Committee and authorized the said committee to appoint Democratic Presidential Electors and fill such vacancies as may arise; and,
Whereas, Certain members of said committee failed and refused to obey the instructions of said convention as to the appointment of Democratic Presidential Electors and filling other vacancies, and expressed themselves as opposed to said appointments and to deprive the Democrats of Nevada of the right to exercise their elective franchise; therefore be it
Resolved, That the Democrats of said committee proceed to obey the instructions of the convention to appoint Presidential Electors and fill vacancies.
The nominations, as appeared in yesterday's JOURNAL, were then made. F. Lemmon of Washoe was nominated for Long Term Tiegant and J. F. Angel of Lyon for Short Term.
General O. W. Irish presented the following address to the Democrats of the State, which was unanimously adopted:
"The Democratic party of Nevada is not unmindful of its obligation to the great national and patriotic organization of which it is a part. That organization has for nearly a third of a century wrought and struggled in behalf of good government and administrative and legislative reforms solely required by the people. At no time during that long and historic disinterested effort has it succeeded in controlling at the same time the executive and legislative government. When it was in majority in both branches of Congress it was confronted by a hostile President. When it was in a minority it was confronted by a hostile President. When it was in a majority in the Senate, which forgot patriotism in party spirit, and by appeals to base, sectional prejudices attacked his just prerogatives as Executive, and instead of acting as his constitutional conductor, became his defamer."
"In the face of these difficulties the party has upheld its standard, has stood by its principles and voiced the hope of the people in every State, never relaxing in vigilance, even when stung by ingratitude at the polls."
"In 1882 it gave to the people their first relief from the Chinese scourge on the Pacific Coast, and two years later the beneficiaries of this policy responded with a solid Republican electoral vote from every State in which white labor had been delivered from the pagan plague. In 1888 the Democratic party still further emphasized its devotion to Caucasian civilization by enacting the Scott law to more rigidly guard our institutions against destruction by Chinese invasion, and again it was answered by a solid Republican electoral vote from the States which had demanded the Scott law. Always with the interests of the plain people on this question of so vital immigration, always responding to their ingratitude with the larger relief of which they stood in need, the Democratic party has shown that its view of the public interest is not to be obscured, nor its energies abated, even by the selfishness and forgetfulness that are shown by the fact that only four Democrats are returned to Congress from the eleven States this side of the Missouri river, whose freights interests have been the object of its care."
"We believe that the patriotic patience of the Democratic party will overcome indifference and opposition."
"We are not unmindful that amongst the reforms required by the same States which have had relief against the Chinese invaders is a complete revision of our outlaws laws, looking to measures that will restore the joint per of gold and silver upon equality at the mints. But we are also aware that this issue must share public attention and call party action in company with revenue reform, the restriction of favored monopolies, the abolition of war burdens, the adjustment of taxation to a peace basis and its reduction to the needs of economical government, and with this impression we see our duty to the whole Republic in affirming our allegiance to the only national party and declaring our faith in that Democracy which has never been careless of the interests of the people."
"We do this now with more confidence than ever, because the nominees of our party, during his first term in the Presidency, found the pathway to all reforms barred by the frowning figure of sectional hatred, and he, by a personal sacrifice which placed him amongst the great men of our times, struck that spectre down and gave his countrymen a true issue in place of that false one which had so long deceived them."
"For the foregoing reasons we affirm and perpetuate the Democratic party of Nevada, free from bargains and entangling alliances, and in so doing record our conviction that any man who will seek the Presidency by trading with unattached or called independent electors, would be unfit for that great office."
After the adoption of the address, the Committee adjourned to meet at the call of Chairman Dennis.
Still Growing.
A glance at the map of Powning's Addition shows that with but very few exceptions all of the most eligible lots have been sold. Along the entire river front, or Riverside Avenue, there are only three corners left, while on Second street there are but four that are not sold. People wonder how it happens, but Reno keeps on growing just the same, and those who are still hunting bargains should buy a lot in Powning's Addition while lots are yet reasonable.

RUN OVER BY THE CARS
A Serious Accident at the Depot Last Night.
Another railroad casualty can be added to the endless pages of railroad history. Shortly after the east-bound train had departed last night a man by the name of Chas. Flynn, started the people about the depot by crying out that a man had been run over by the cars. Going to the place designated a man was seen lying between the tracks. He was carried on to the platform and a light procured when it was seen that the right hand was a shapely man, and almost severed from the arm. Night watchman Nash summoned Dr. Phillips, who was soon on the ground, and bound the arm to prevent the flow of blood. The wounded man asked the doctor to examine his left foot, as it did not feel exactly right. The doctor, with the assistance of bystanders, removed the shoe, and a sickening spectacle was presented to view. About one-half the foot and a portion of the heel were mashed almost into a pulp, and simply hung together by shreds of flesh.
The injured man has been in town some two or three days and given the name of Pete Waddell, but is better known as "Old Scott," and says he has a wife and family living at 1115 North 9th street, St. Louis.
Charles Flynn, who claims to have been talking with the unfortunate a short time before the accident, says that as the east-bound train pulled into the depot, Waddell stepped to the engine to talk with the engineer. As the train pulled out he stepped back onto the side track and the first of three freight cars which were being dropped down the track, struck him, throwing him to the ground. Mr. Flynn could not prevent the accident and as soon as the cars had passed raised the alarm.
Dr. Phillips says that it will be necessary to amputate the hand from the wrist and probably the entire right foot. There were also several bruises about the head, face and legs. Mr. Waddell was removed to the County Hospital.
Columbus and the Schools.
As all are aware, October 21, 1892, is to be observed as a national holiday in commemoration of a nation's birth and in honor of him to whose persistent efforts the discovery of our glorious country is due—Christopher Columbus.
With this laudable idea of inculcating patriotism and veneration for the great heroes of the past in the minds of the youth of the present, the observance of the day and its accompanying celebrations are to be placed almost wholly in the hands of the schools. For this purpose the National Association of Superintendents of Education has adopted the program arranged by the editors of the Youth's Companion and published in that paper, with the hope that this program will be used by all the schools of the United States, thus making a uniform national celebration that shall extend from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific as well.
Not to be behind hand in the matter of arranging for and the carrying out of this celebration the teachers of the public schools met yesterday afternoon, discussed and adopted the program as given by the Youth's Companion, allowing for such modification as may be found necessary.
A preliminary organization was effected and following committees were appointed:
On Funds—Prof. J. Edwards Bray, Mrs. M. S. Doten.
On Program—Mrs. L. C. Booth, Miss N. M. Rullison, Mrs. M. S. Doten.
On Music—Mrs. L. C. Booth, Miss L. Hall, Miss Frances Short, John Sunderland, Jr., James Henry.
On Seats and Accommodations—Prof. J. E. Bray, Mr. J. H. Clark.
On Orator and Chaplain—Miss Cora Angell, Miss M. Northrop.
On Decoration—Miss L. Urruh, Miss Loder, Miss Snow, Miss Craighead, Miss L. Joy, Mr. J. H. Clark.
In order to carry out the program successfully and in a manner to do credit to the occasion, the town and the schools, a certain amount of money will be required. To raise this the Committee on Funds will wait upon our citizens, whose liberality in all matters connected with the school is unquestioned and has never yet been appealed to in vain.
It should be a subject of pride to every American citizen that this day should be properly observed and by none can this be so well and so fittingly done as by the nation's hope and pride, the children of the land.
To Whom It May Concern.
My wife, Irene O. Black, having left my bed and board, without just cause or provocation, I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her.
E. W. BLACK.

Indiana Has No Cause to Complain.
Indiana was first represented on a national presidential ticket in 1852, when George W. Julian was the candidate of the Free Soil Democrats for vice president. The ticket received no electoral votes. Indiana's next representative was Schuyler Colfax, who was elected vice president along with General Grant in 1868. In 1872 no Indiana name was on any of the regular tickets. But after Mr. Greeley's death the Democratic electoral votes were most of them cast for Thomas A. Hendricks, and a few vice presidential votes were cast for George W. Julian. In 1876 Thomas A. Hendricks was the candidate for vice president on the Democratic ticket. In 1880 William H. Harrison played a similar role. In 1884 Thomas A. Hendricks resumed his place as second on the Democratic ticket. In 1888 Indiana for the first time had the first place on the presidential ticket. Benjamin Harrison was placed in the White House. This year he is on the ticket again. It is thus seen that in every presidential campaign since 1868 Indiana has had vital interest in the result.—Indianapolis News.
Three Black Crows Again.
The growth of a "hine and cry" was well illustrated the other day on the banks of the Seine. Two fishermen in a boat got into an altercation with a woman engaged in washing a poodle on shore, splashed her with water and fled from her wrathful shrieks. A crowd collected, the cry was raised that a woman had been drowned, and scared by the success of their joke the two fishermen attempted to escape down the river.
They were finally arrested at some distance on the charge of having murdered a woman and her baby for the sake of the rings worn by the former, and of having thrown the bodies into the water, and it required all the energy of the police to save them from the 8,000 people who had followed them along the shore in order to lynch them.

"August Flower"

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. I then used Relieved in your August Flower and it was just two days when I felt great relief. I soon got so that I could sleep and eat, and I felt that I was well. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. The beauty of the medicine is, that you can stop the use of it without any bad effects on the system.

Constipation While I was sick I felt everything it seemed to me a man could feel. I was of all men most miserable. I can say, in conclusion, that I believe August Flower will cure anyone of indigestion, if taken.

Why he Pays Duty on the "Pants."
Some rather fine distinctions are drawn in the matter of customs decisions by the treasury department. A citizen of Detroit went over to Canada and bought a pair of trousers, which he wore home. The customs officers taxed him $2.80 duty on the new trousers. He applied to the treasury department for a rebate, and in his letter said, "I fancied those trousers and bought them."

When he used the word "fancied" he gave his case away. Assistant Secretary Cronse informed him that the McKinley law admits free of duty articles of clothing which are a "necessity," but as the claimant himself admits that he bought the trousers because he "fancied" them it stands to reason that they were not an article of necessity. Therefore he must pay duty.—Washington Star.

Claimed Millions, Got a Pauper's Grave.
Mr. A. Dodge, who was mentioned in a New York paper recently as one of Montana's millionaires, is reported to have died in a two-cent grave. She claimed to own vast estates in England, and had papers to give an air of probability to her claim. The matter had been pending for years. Meanwhile she had become old and poor. She came to Butte from San Francisco a year ago, and while here was forced to go to the poor-house, where she died Wednesday. By a contract with the county a local undertaker interred Butte's paupers for two cents per head, and that is the kind of a grave in which rests the body of a woman who believed herself the rightful owner of $9,000,000 in property.—Butte Cor. Helena Independent.

The Voice of the Robin.
No bird is better known to us than the robin. Its song is sweet and plaintive; it rises early and goes to bed late; it loves to dwell and nestle near to man, and has an air of sprightliness and confidence which endears it to us all.

The songs of birds may be divided into six utterances. The call note of the mate in spring; the loud, clear note of defiance, the note of fear when danger threatens the nest, the note of alarm or war cry, the note of affection for their young, and the soft, tender, full, melodious love warble.—Troy Times.
